W. Dan Haden III '63

The architectural firm of Bohlin Cywinski Jackson, of which Dan Haden is a principal, was selected to receive the American Institute of Architects 1994 Architectural Firm Award. Only one such award is given nationally to "a practice that has produced distinguished architecture consistently for at least ten years." Dan has personally managed the Harrisburg International Airport Terminal and the Knott Athletic Recreation and Convocation Center for Mount Saint Mary's College. His firm is involved in the design of the home/complex in Seattle for Bill Gates of Microsoft.

Congratulations to Rich Davis, who married the former Louise Coley Kaldis on June 18 in Los Angeles where they will continue to reside. Sandy Saxten has opened a new restaurant on the Hawaiian island of Maui. The Hula Grill in Kaanapali's Whaler Village is Sandy's fifth restaurant on Maui. Sandy's son, Jack, is attending Taft as a Mid this fall. Connie and I and our kids (Maggie now almost 12 and Barney, 11) recently returned from a great 6-day white water rafting trip on the Middle Fork of the Salmon River in Idaho and then a week of horseback riding at a small guest ranch near Cranbrook, British Columbia. We're planning a trip East in the spring to show the kids my "Eastern roots" and will visit Taft to plant the seed...

Dick Stevens qualified to represent Connecticut in the U. S. Amateur Golf Championship in Jacksonville, FL, in August. Expectations are that he will qualify again next year, but win it this time. Let's see how you do under real pressure! Dick's son, Shep, is a mid this year at Taft. Bob Leary has recently changed jobs. He is now vice-president and general manager of United Metal Specialties in Worcester, MA. His company distributes stainless steel and nickel alloys worldwide.

David Monagan and his wife, Jamie, have three small children, Owen, 1, Harris, 4, and Laura, 5. They all live in a large shoe at the end of a dirt road in Cornwall, trying to keep the modern world at a safe distance—the children are more worried about coyotes.

Charles Flynn has been selected as executive director of the Wheeling National Heritage Area Corp. in Wheeling, West Virginia. WNHAC will implement plans to revitalize the city through preservation and enhancement of the city's historical and cultural resources. Todd Gipstein is still working for the National Geographic Society as a writer, photographer, and producer. He's still traveling a lot and enjoying the experiences life and work afford him.

Paul DeBernardi enjoyed a beautiful Minnesota summer. He is the commercial sales manager for the premier computer security company in the US. His number one client is the National Security Agency. Rich Ashley has sold part of his scuba businesses in San Francisco and San Mateo, CA, to another scuba business operator and has been surprised that business has improved substantially and he has had to spend a lot less time managing it. Rick's two sons are getting to the ages where Rick feels he should be moving out of the city to the burbs. Biff Barnard '63 has been trying to talk him into moving into the East Bay area where Biff and his family reside.

Sharon Gogan McLaughlin has three children, 8, 6, and 2. She works part time in an office and is married to Edmund, a systems analyst. She has lived in Oakville for six years and sees Suzanne Bean Cooper sometimes. Renee and Joe Meaney have three children, 7, 6, and 2. They have moved to a beautiful four-bedroom house, 7 Windsor Court, Farmington, CT 06032. They spent a lot of time this summer in Old Lyme, visiting Joe's parents. Laura Gieg Kell spent August cruising the East Coast with her five children. They especially liked going to Maine, where the kids caught a lot of fish! She also spent one night on Cape Cod at Bill Armstrong's house. Bill's landscaping business is going well. He took the kids out in the dump truck for a joy ride. What a coincidence! When Jeff Blum's son, Ben, entered second grade in Weston, MA, he discovered that Ben's teacher was Sharon Brady '74, one of eight possible teachers to choose from.

Recently, Biff Barnard '63 joined Garrick Olson and his kids in Denver, CO, to watch the Cubs kill the Rockies at Mile High Stadium. Garrick's kids (Andrew, 13, Amber, 11, and Erica, 6) are as sports crazy as Garrick is and terrific kids. Garrick is the top producing commercial leasing agent for CB Commercial in Denver. He is focusing his participatory sports interest on golf, which he is attacking the same way he attacked all sports when he was at Taft. Ted Judson is still working as retail marketing manager for Electronic Arts in San Mateo and living in San Francisco. His focus is working with retailers to develop marketing strategies for selling Electronic Art products.

Linda and Bruce Johnson '67 and their children vacationed with Debbie and Jim Taylor '67 and their children at the Taylor cabin on Tunk Lake in Maine.
